OUR STORY

Framed by MM was founded by builders for builders.

We know the difference light gauge steel can make and understand how critical precision and reliability are. That's why we're proud to offer a new standard in framing solutions for the construction industry.

Born from frustration with timber shortages and unreliable supply chains, Framed by MM was created to ensure a solid foundation for our projects, and those of our fellow builders.

With rigorous processes, knowledgeable people, and a commitment to quality, we deliver light gauge steel you can depend on. Every time.
